As it is written, He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever.

Now he that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increaseth the fruits of your righteousness:...

Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift.

II Cor. 9:9-10,15

Thank you for the many prayers on our behalf and the financial support you have given to help reach the native American Indians for Christ. As we bask in the glow of the Thanksgiving holiday and anticipate the joys of this coming Christmas we are ever mindful of the vital roll our prayer and financial supporters are to us.

We have certainly been blessed this past month. Steve has been preaching through the book of Colossians on Sundays. Nearly every Sunday the Holy Spirit moved and souls responded during the invitation including two for salvation. We have been reminded of the wonderful position we have in Christ, the God-man, Who has completed the work of salvation in us through His shed blood on the cross.

For the Thanksgiving holiday the Lord provided for us to be able to visit our alma mater, and our sons, in Florida. Micah, who is attending college in California, was also able to be with us. We thoroughly enjoyed the time together knowing that these times are only going to grow less frequent.

Traveling with us to Florida was one of our teen men to visit the college. He is currently home-schooling in our church co-op, but is looking ahead to college. As a result of this trip he now believes the Lord is directing him to attend Christian college with our son Josh in Pensacola in a couple of years. God has been so merciful to us in allowing us to minister among the American Indian. Now, we are seeing the young people we have taught go on to train for His service in good Christian colleges around the country. During our Thanksgiving and Praise Service, Steve pointed out to our congregation how God had blessed our church and home-school families by having all of our graduates go on to Christian college. And it appears that trend will continue at least into the near future.

Please, continue to pray for us, Hualapai Baptist Church, and the Independent Baptist Indian Mission, as we strive to evangelize and disciple native Americans, and to establish strong Bible-believing churches throughout North America.

For God's Glory,
The Steve De Ford family
